Honokong, December 9th, 1889. Mr. Francis's absence from the meeting of the Sanitary Board on Friday last is to be regretted. It would have been interesting to know what he would have had to say to war Estugroul, now in Singapore, has been as the Surveyor-General's remarks on the Peak drainage and Mr. FRANCIS's attitude in re--gard to the same. On the correspondence which had been circulated amought the members of the Board Mr. FRANCIS had made a minute to the effect that the November. Peak residents should be advised to disconnect from the drainage system until it was aborigines at Lin-chow, and the Taotai of Nam- per bore beautiful hand-painted designs by Japroperly flushed. On this the Surveyor-General says that so far from the residents them into subjection. being inclined to disconnect, several applications have been made, even while the alleged defects have been under consideration, to connect with and extend the drainage; and one of these was from Mr. FRANCIS himself, who asked for a similar system of drainage in connection with Magazine Gdp. Mr. Brown thus nearly turned the laugh against one of the chief autagonists of the system which has been so severely condemned but which nevertheless seems to meet with some he returns from his island, will, we suspect, have_some_explanation_to_offer,_and if the Surveyor-General has in any way misunderstood the learned gentleman's application been completely taken out of almost all that Mr. Francis bee said against the Peak drainage. The true state of the case with regard it would not willingly see a reversion to the latter. That drains are better than cega-pite in no reason why people should not agitate to have the drains made na perfect as possible, but it does seem a reason why they should not accuse the Government of any very great crime in baving laithe drains.

Ve invite attention to the following old landed | THE question of the recent excessive mortality at Kowloon was discussed at the meeting of the Sanitary Board on Frid y, The figures are certainly startling. The number deaths registered in the district in the month of November was 71 as against 41 the same month of the previous year, which was the highest number recorded-up-to-that orders through Local Post or by Telegram time. This excessive mortality is confined to the Chinese population, but amongst the European residents there has been a considerable amount of sickness from fevers, and Dr. Arms tells us that excessive sickness was also reported amongst the troops, that fifty but that there was no particular mortality bevause the cas vere rapidly looked after. is the duty of the Sanitary Board.

it can, to find out the cause of this sick ness and the excessive mortality amongst the Chinese, and it is satisfactory to know that Mr. McCallum, the Sanitary the capture of an enormous fish caught in a Saperintendent, is pursuing inquiries in this direction. So far the only solution that has Layer). The monster, being quite a curiosity been suggested is the sudden-change in temperature which occurred at the beginning of the month. The Surveyor-General says be has been over to Kowloon several times, has spoken with the residents there, and his conclusion is that there is no reason to suppose that the sickness arose from any insanitary condition of the place, but was chiefly due to climatic influences. Without this explanation bothicks the figures standing alone might cause an amount ! apprehension which is hardly justified by se facts. The suddenness of the increase in the mortality would seem Case. Per Bot. to the explanation suggested by the Surveyor-General. In September the numbertrict was 89, in October 45, and last month 71. This great personage has passed through several phases eign-hater and ultra-conservative to that of leading innovator and pioneer of progress; and between the two extremes many episod a have occurred and deficient staying power. Whether from nonalitutional weakness or the consciousness of the ambiguity of his personal relation to the State, he seems to be always afraid of his own shadow. His aspirations are sound enough. He knows in a general way what is good for the country and conducive to the interests of his house: and he is sufficiently vain to desire ardently to father some measure of progress which will carry his name down to posterity as a statesman who knew his epoch. But his schemes, though warmly espoused, have no root in any real knowledge of his own, and are like seclusion of a glass shelter, but shrivel up when exposed to the natural atmosphere.
